

```
Favourite Fruits

fruits <- c("Apple", "Banana", "Orange", "Mango", "Grapes") votes <- c(25, 40, 18, 30, 12)

barplot(votes,
        names.arg=fruits,
        col="skyblue",
        main="Favourite Fruits",
        xlab="Fruits",
        ylab="Number of People")

max_index <- which.max(votes) min_index <- which.min(votes)

cat("Most Preferred Fruit:", fruits[max_index], "\n") cat("Least Preferred Fruit:", fruits[min_index], "\n")
```

Most Preferred Fruit: Banana Least Preferred Fruit: Grapes

```
departments <- c("HR","Finance","Marketing","Sales") percent <- c(20,25,30,25)

pie(percent,
     labels=departments,
     col=rainbow(4),
     main="Employee Distribution")

total <- 200

marketing <- total * 25 / 100
```

```
cat("Employees in Marketing =", marketing)
```

Employees in Marketing = 50

Employee Distribution

```
activities <- c("Video Games",
               "Reading",
               "Cooking",
               "Painting",
               "Music")

percent <- c(20,35,20,10,25)

pie(percent,
     labels=paste(activities,percent,"%"),
     col=rainbow(5)).
```

```
main="Weekend Activities")

max_index <- which.max(percent)

cat("Most Common Activity:", activities[max_index])
```

Most Common Activity: Reading

